GUIDE TO VOTING IN THE TEXAS PRIMARIES

VoteTexas.gov

1. Texas Has Open Primaries

- Texas uses an open primary system, which means:
- You do not need to be a registered Republican to vote in the Republican primary.
- On Primary Election Day or during Early Voting, you choose either:
 - the Republican ballot, or
 - the Democratic ballot.
- You can only vote in one party's primary per election cycle.

2. You Must Be Registered to Vote

To vote in the Republican primary, you must:

- Be registered to vote in Texas
- Be 18 years old by Election Day
- Be a U.S. citizen
- Be registered at your current address

Texas does not allow same-day voter registration, so registration must be completed ahead of time.

3. What to Bring to the Polling Place

Texas requires a photo ID. Acceptable forms include:

- Texas Driving License
- Texas Election Identification Certificate
- Texas Personal ID Card
- U.S. Passport (book or card)
- Military ID with photo
- U.S. Citizenship Certificate with photo

If you don't have one of these, Texas offers a Reasonable Impediment Declaration.

4. What Happens at the Polling Place

When you arrive:

- You check in with a poll worker.
- You will be asked which party's primary ballot you want.
- Say "Republican ballot" Or "Democratic ballot" per your preference.
- You vote privately.
- You submit your ballot and receive an "I Voted" sticker.

No one can challenge or question your choice of party ballot.

5. Early Voting vs. Election Day

- Early Voting: February 17 - 27th - Vote at any Polling Place
- Election Day: March 3rd: Must vote at your assigned polling location

Early voting is often less crowded and more flexible.

6. What You're Voting For in a Primary

You will choose either the Republican or Democratic ballot. You'll then vote on:

- That party's candidates for offices like Congress, state offices, or local positions.
- Judicial races

The primary determines which Republican or Democratic candidates advance to the November general election.

Note: Choosing a party's ballot in the primary does not register you with that party. In the November general election, you can vote for any candidate from any party.
